The Anglophone international sections: tailor-made courses from nursery to high school

A single admission based on the successful completion of entrance tests.

A bilingual and bicultural programme based on a bilateral pedagogical partnership between the French Ministry of Education and foreign countries or organisations representing their education systems.

A course designed for pupils from foreign or binational families living in France which gives them the opportunity to integrate the French school system whilst being taught in their first language, together with French students having acquired a first-language proficiency in English.

The acquisition of sound language and cultural skills in the Humanities.

Specific courses of study in English language and literature, and in History and Geography in English taught by qualified teachers with a command of English at first-language level.

International schools welcome their students in the heart of Strasbourg.

An international pathway leading to world-ranked universities both in France and internationally.

The British international section in Strasbourg

Pupils enrolled in the Anglophone international section take additional and demanding examinations recognised internationally:

- at the end of Year 10: the international option of the collège diploma (Diplôme National du Brevet "option international" - DNBI)
- at the end of Year 11: the International General Certificate of Secondary Education offered by Cambridge Assessment International Education
- at the end of Year 13: the British option of the International French Baccalaureate (BFI) equivalent to British A' levels and the French baccalaureate.

40% of BFI students study in English-speaking universities internationally, mostly in European countries after Brexit.
